Youth Center Orders Three Food Trailers

Carmel Youth Center members will sell refreshments at the Crosby Golf Tournament in January from three custom built trailers approved by Del Monte Properties and purchased with funds from the Crosby Foundation.

James Buffington, president of the Youth Center adult board, and Jack Giles, Youth Center director, returned from Long Beach last Thursday after placing an order for three trailers, each of which will cost $1,700. Other members of the adult board indicated approval of the purchase at a meeting earlier this month.

The trailers, painted white with forest green stripes, will be 15 feet long, eight feet wide and nine feet high. Formica counters for serving are located on three sides of each trailer which will accommodate six to eight workers. There will be a built-in four burner stove in each unit, also a refrigerator for ice. Wiring for electric lighting and refrigeration also will be provided for use where outlets are available.

Mr. Buffington and Mr. Giles stipulated that the trailers must be delivered to the youth center by January 10. The Mayflower Trailer Company of Long Beach (Continued on Page Eighteen)

Robert Mueller Plays With County Symphony

Highlighting the second of the season's concerts by the Monterey County Symphony will be the appearance of the noted young pianist, Robert Mueller.

The program, scheduled for December 5, at Sunset Auditorium, will feature Mr. Mueller in a performance of the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 3. His scholarly musicianship and the sensitivity of his interpretations have earned him a well deserved reputation in both the United States and Europe.

Born in Decatur, Illinois, Mueller studied under Misses Bogen-lawski in Chicago and with Egon Petri at Cornell University. His studies, interrupted by a three-year stint in the U. S. Air Corps during the war years, were resumed in 1946 in San Francisco, under the guidance of Harold Loggan. In 1950 he made his recital debut in San Francisco, and since that time has been an active concert artist, appearing in recital as well as with symphony orchestras. (Continued on Page Seven)

Trustees Tonight Open Junior High Construction Bids, Hear Reports On Transportation, Lighting, Gym Suits

Carmel School District trustees are slated to open construction bids on the new junior high school tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the music room at Carmel High School.

Two other items are also scheduled for discussion: boys' gym suits and transportation.

On the eve of the bid opening, trustees had received a report on the testing of a new Perfect Vision lighting system indicating that the Division of School Planning will not approve the system because of "too much glare" at desk height below the light source. This leaves the board a choice tonight of accepting an alternate lighting system for the new school, or following a procedure whereby the board accepts the engineer's recommendation for the fixtures and also the responsibility for the unapproved system.

At least 11 bidders were expected to participate, according to architect Thomas Elston of Elston-Cranston, who said that of the 11 inquiries from contractors, two were local, two from Salinas, and one each from Watsonville, Fresno, Redding and elsewhere in the state.

Also ready for board consideration tonight is a recommendation for purchase of a 91-passenger diesel-powered school bus to provide transportation to the new junior high for all students living west of State Highway One, and

Television Apes Motion Pictures Instead Of Becoming New Art Form TV Writer JC Alexander Claims

By RAYLON PARKER

"Back in the days of the 'live' shows, television was near to becoming a new dramatic art form. Like the theater, it had an immediacy that was good for characterization.

"But instead of developing in this direction, it has chosen to ape motion pictures, with the result that most things on television are now superficial and stock. Thousands of dollars are spent on sets but the material presented doesn't measure up."

This is the viewpoint of JC (for John Charles) Alexander, a television writer from these "good old days" of TV and a sometime actor, who moved to Carmel recently to make his home and "to do a little pioneering in the writing business."

Though he is still a writer for television and an ardent, though critical, watcher, Mr. Alexander says, "I don't think television is ever going to amount to much unless it returns to what it's really suited for — the small, intensive presentation rather than the wide, wide view. That's for motion pictures only. Yet they're even using motion picture cameras now for TV work."

"The most honest shows on television today are the better westerns. They at least approach a degree of art. There's significance in the western for all of us. But very few of us have written about the West with real skill. That's one of the things I want to try. I may not succeed either, but at least I'll have tried."

JC Alexander (which is a name he uses for writing only; friends call him Chuck) comes equipped with a far better understanding of the past few decades who've served up warmed-over westerns from their Manhattan and Chicago studios.

School's out until Monday for pupils in the Carmel Unified School District.

When Carmel High School students return to classes, Monday morning they will hog on a "flexible schedule" merry-go-round. Classes will rotate daily. The first class Monday will be the students second class on Tuesday, and so on until the first class is in first place again. There will be two lunch periods as formerly.

Arts commissioners are eager to have a complete record of the August 27 Forest Theatre Sunday afternoon program presented by the Stuart Highlanders Bagpipe Band of San Francisco.

So far commissioners have a complete tape recording of the pipers' skirling and comments by City Clerk Larry Rose, master of ceremonies. The tape was made by Building Inspector Floyd Adams. They also have still photographs of the event which was preceded and followed by a parade down Ocean Avenue.

In the overflow audience which spread even into the branches of oaks and pines, commissioners noticed several persons making motion pictures. If these persons are (Continued on Page Four)

STATE PARKS CLOSE

The Division of Beaches and Parks announces that all state parks and state historical monuments will be closed Thanksgiving Day in order to give the park personnel an opportunity to spend this holiday with their families. State parks that will be affected in this area are Point Lobos Reserve, Pfeiffer Big Sur and Monterey State Historical Monuments.

Community Theatre Elects Governors And Plans Campaign

Members of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, at their annual meeting Tuesday night in the Golden Bough Circle Theatre unanimously elected 21 persons to the group's board of governors and adopted by-laws as a corporation. They also made plans for a forthcoming membership campaign and heard a report from Marcia Horvick, director, of the Community Theatre's flourishing children's theatre school. Officers of the group for 1962 will be elected on December 4.

Fritz Wurzmann, outgoing vice president, and chairman of the membership committee, presented a program for new memberships. Each single membership of $12 will entitle the holder to eight free admissions to any Circle Theatre performance, except on Saturday evenings. These free admissions may be used singly or in groups. In addition, holders of $20 family memberships will be entitled to 16 free admissions subject to the same conditions. Sustaining memberships of $25 will also carry a similar 16 free admissions privilege.

Francis Heisler, retiring president, briefed members on the by-laws and explained that, since July of this year, the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula has been a non-profit corporation with tax exemption for memberships allowed in the State of California.

FIRST ANNUAL LETTUCE BOWL AT SALINAS TODAY

The first annual Lettuce Bowl football game is slated to unfold at the Salinas High Stadium at 12 o'clock today with the MPC Lobos representing the Coast Junior College Conference and the San Francisco City College representing the Big Eight. MPC won the Coast JC title chase while SFCC placed second in the Big 8. San Mateo JC, winner of the Big 8, declined the Lettuce Bowl bid in favor of the San Jose Prune Bowl on December 2.

With all proceeds ticketed for charity, the Lettuce Bowl is designed to match the top Northern California junior college teams which are frequently overlooked by the Junior Rose Bowl selectors. Today's game should be an even-up affair matching the strong running attacks of both teams. Neither team has the reputation of living by the forward pass and the game will most likely be settled in a rugged battle between the small quick Lobo line and the beefy tough San Francisco forwards.

Tickets for the charity clash can be secured at the Casa Munras Hotel, Rasmussen & Moody Sporting Goods, and at the MPC campus.

PADRES OPEN HOOP SEASON DECEMBER 1

Coach Dick Lawitzke sends his Carmel High cagers into their first action on Friday, December 1, when the Junipero Memorial High Cardinals visit the Carmel pavilion to kickoff the new season. The Padres have been going through their paces for three weeks and shape up as a rangy outfit with good rebounding, fine inside shooting, and clever ball-handling on the outside. Coach Lawitzke has one returning letterman to anchor his 1961-62 squad with senior Jim Brown being the only starter on last season's quintet. In addition to Brown, the Red & Gray squad has Bob Palma, Pete Morse, Rick Baldwin and Jim Kelley as returning Jayvee veterans. Kelley and Morse at 6-3 provide good height and rebounding for the Padres with Brown established as a dangerous threat with his inside jump-shots. Lightweights Ted Leidig and Dan Holman are both deft ball-handlers with good outside shots and play-making ability.

Coaches Harold Lippstreu and Clyde Klaumann Jr are guiding the destinies of the lightweight and junior-varsity squads this season and have them primed for the opener against Junipero. Both squads are comparatively inexperienced this season, but show promise of developing into winning units before the season is over.

COACHES, SPORTSWRITERS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

CCAL football coaches and sportswriters will gather at Garbini's Restaurant in Santa Cruz Monday night to select the All-CCAL football squads for the 1961 season. The B-division coaches and writers are faced with the problem of picking both offensive and defensive teams while the A-league picks only 11 players. In making the selections, the coach of each school submits the players from his team with all-league potentialities and his fellow coaches mull over the nominations and come up with the mythical eleven. In case of a tie at any position, the sportswriters step in and settle the issue.

Carmel High's well-balanced team has three solid candidates for backfield positions in George Pollock, Lee Oleson and Dan Holman, rugged linemen Pete Morse, Ray Eaton and Dave Harris must be considered when picking the men up front. Defensive stalwart Ted Leidig has earned the respect of all the coaches throughout the league and the little 140-pounder will be a strong candidate for one of the safety spots.

MPC WINS COAST JC FOOTBALL TITLE

With a rousing 14-12 victory over arch-rival Hartnell last Saturday night at the MPC Stadium, Coach George Porter's Monterey Peninsula College Lobos sewed up the Coast Junior College Conference grid title and earned title to the Keg which signifies the JC champ of Monterey County. A slight underdog to Coach Arvin Smith's Panthers, the Lobos outplayed the Salinas collegians in all departments and had all the statistics in their favor. The win over Hartnell not only gave the Lobos the junior college championship for 1961, it also earned them a chance to meet San Francisco City College in the Salinas Lettuce Bowl at 12:00 o'clock today.

MPC got touchdown number one early in the first period as scatback Jerry Colletto zipped 27 yards on a well-executed off-tackle slant to put the Lobos in front. Quarterback Skip Murry passed for the two-point conversion and the Lobos were on top, 8 to 0.

The Panthers came back to score a six-pointer in the second period on a cross-field pass from Jim McGuire to Frank Bernard-asci. The attempted pass for the conversion was off target and Monterey had a two-point bulge. An intercepted pass put the Panthers in business for the go-ahead touchdown which quarterback Gary Brooks engineered midway of the second period. Another pass attempt for the conversion failed and it was 12-8 for the Panthers.

Monterey got the winning touchdown on quarterback Murry's bootleg around the Panther left flank following some excellent running by halfbacks Jim Dotson and Jerry Colletto. The halftime score was 14-12 and the scoreboard had the Lobos in front by the same margin after a hard-fought second-half which saw several near-misses by both teams.

Sparked by Carmel's Fred Bucher, the MPC forward wall outplayed the bulky Panther forwards to establish game control for the spirited Lobo gang. Big Charlie Vaughn, Jon Olivetti, Dan Schwartz, Mannie Cordova and Len Newman were towers of strength in the Lobo line during the entire four quarters.

By winning the 1961 Coast JC title, the Lobos have the distinction of retiring the trophy for the circuit as it is currently rigged. Next season, Foothill and San Jose City College will move up with the Big Eight and little San Benito JC of Hollister will become an official member of the Coast JC.

BEACH CLUB

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Pebble Beach Invitational Inter-Club Tennis Championships are scheduled for December 1, 2, and 3 at the Pebble Beach Tennis Club. The Burlingame Country Club team will defend its title, and other clubs sending teams are: Menlo Circus Club, California Tennis Club, Berkeley Tennis Club, Valley Hunt Club, Los Angeles Tennis Club, and Pebble Beach Tennis Club. The beautiful Social Spectator Perpetual Trophy is at stake again this year.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS

The Carmel Woman's Club will present a Christmas holiday program, with Mrs. A. F. Svantessen as chairman, at its home and garden section on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Christmas carols will be sung by children from Sunset School, and Mrs. J. M. Ewing will give two readings. There will be Christmas exhibits

Robert Pack

A frequent visitor to Carmel, Robert Francis Pack, father of Stephen S. Pack of Carmel, died early Saturday following a long period of ill health.

He was born October 1, 1874, on the Isle of Wight, England, and was honorary chairman of the board of directors of Northern States Power Company of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

In addition to his son, Mr. Pack is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Carl Schurmann of New York City, and Mrs. Denzil Batchelor of London; a brother, C. A. Pack of Toronto, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements have been made in Minneapolis with the Paul Mortuary in charge of local arrangements.

by Carmel merchants and club members, which will include table settings, gifts, toys, floral arrangements, packages and creative crafts.

There will also be a table of Christmas creations by club members. Those wishing to display anything they have made are urged to call Mrs. Carl Rasmussen, MA 4-3962.

drover on the Chisholm Trail. His father was born "on the trail" in Ogallala, Nebraska, and he himself in Lincoln, Nebraska.

He attended high school and college there, taking pre-law, "but it bored me." He switched to a study of English and dramatics.

"I came from a strange family of people who never quite did what they really wanted to do. My father, for instance, was an artist who went into the brokerage and investment business.

"With the secret help of a sympathetic uncle, I decided to break the pattern."

Chuck, who had worked for a commercial art firm through several years of high school and college, came to Los Angeles to study at the Chouinard Art Institute for a year and a half, "until my money ran out. But by that time I'd met a lot of people who were interested in acting, so I enrolled in the Ben Bard School of Acting.

"Most of my classmates of those days became actors—Alan Ladd, Jack Carson, Gig Young. With Bill Orr, now an executive producer for all of Warner Brothers television productions, I wrote my first play and acted in it.

"From there I went to the Pasadena Playhouse where I spent four years as an actor myself, playing with Victor Mature and Robert Preston, Louise Albritton, Peter Whitney."

A player of light comedy roles, Charles Alexander took leads in Dinner at Eight, You Can't Take It With You, The Little Minister, Comedy of Errors, Knickerbocker Holiday, and many other productions at the Playhouse, touring in road shows with the Actors' Company of Southern California.

But during World War II, when he sought a job more vital to national defense than acting, he became an assembly riveter at North American Aviation, and this in turn led him into a field he hadn't planned on but in which he spent some time—technical writing.

Later, he became a production coordinator and member of the permanent cast of the Laguna Beach Theater, and a member of the production staff of What's Doing, Ladies, an early TV show, where he was assistant writer, producer and stage manager.

"TV was just being heard of for the first time," he recalls. "There weren't any dull minutes. We were never sure when the camera was going to break down or the orthocon tube burn out."

He took a two-year course in TV writing sponsored by UCLA and NBC and wrote later for The Family Theater and the old Armstrong Circle show. J. Carroll Naish starred in a play he wrote for The Hour of Saint Francis, phoning the writer to ask how the role should be interpreted. "I'm not sure what I told him. I'm afraid some of those early shows of ours were pretty terrible, but at that time who knew the difference? Viewers watched everything because of the novelty."

In addition to his own forays into the acting profession, Mr. Alexander has two acting brothers, Alexander Roberts, and Philip Abbott. The latter played the bridegroom in Paddy Chayefsky's play, The Bachelor Party, and has appeared in many other films and Broadway plays, including Bus Stop. He's now making a picture with Rock Hudson called The Spiral Road.

Though he has been a frequent visitor to Carmel since 1925, Mr. Alexander only this fall moved here. He and Mrs. Alexander (Ruth) make their home at Alta and Mission where he writes eight hours a day, "not always for television, sometimes for myself," and both are bird watchers and bird feeders, reflecting the charm Carmel birds have for former city dwellers. "Some birds come and tap on the windows until we notice and put something out for them."

Also a writer of short stories, a relatively new form for him, Mr. Alexander has for the past two consecutive years won the Writer's Digest short story contest.

For those who are interested in those "good" westerns that Nebraskan Alexander says we should have more of, he recommends Paul Horgan's novels and those of A. B. Guthrie, and says he personally likes particularly the work of a westerner of Polish ancestry, Mari Sandoz.

Trustees Tonight Open Junior High Bids, Hear Reports On Gym Suits

the morning and the others at 9:30 o'clock, making it possible to serve all transportation needs at the new school with the one additional bus.

Another transportation recommendation due to be considered is the building of a complete station to service the district's buses in the Tularcitos area. A cost estimate for such a station, funds for which were requested in the last bond issue, showed a total for building, paving and equipment of $9,925.

Bids had been opened last Thursday, November 16, on servicing and maintenance for the district's buses. Although three service stations in Carmel Valley had been asked to submit bids, the only bid received was from Valley Flying "A" Service for $768 per month or $3,840 for five months.

Submitting a bid for the school was Ed Goodrick, transportation manager for the district. His figures showed the school can service its own vehicles for $64.64 per month or $323.21 over a five-month period.

Factors contributing to the wide disparity in the two bids, the Goodrick statement said, are the low figure at which the school can buy oil and parts through the county, which asks for annual large-volume bids, the district's lower labor cost, additional equipment which would have to be purchased by private stations, and the greater overhead of private station owners.

Following the last board meeting during which several boys from Carmel High School protested a policy adopted last year by the board requiring student purchase of gym suits, High School Principal Warren Edwards prepared a statement for tonight's meeting which said, in part:

"I am more than unhappy that this business of gym uniforms has come up again. . . . A tremendous amount of time and expense has gone into the security in the locker room. There are individual baskets for each boy and also a combination padlock issued to each student. . . .

"I am disturbed regarding the comments relative to students not having channels open to them to express opinions at the high school. It is my considered opinion that if students are REALLY concerned (not just griping) about a situation they do have avenues open to them, to wit: their teachers will always listen, evaluate, and communicate to duly constituted authority for action, or take action themselves if appropriate.

"The students also have their own student body governmental structure with representatives, proper channels, open student body meetings and weekly student council meetings. . . . A student who wishes to attend a council meeting need only to arrange for a pass. . . . The group who spoke at the board meeting had seen Mr. Sciutto, vice principal, who outlined to them their avenues of communication.

"He told the boys they had many avenues open to them. . . . He concluded that they or their parents could attend board meetings. Mr. Sciutto DID NOT TELL them to attend the board meeting.

"The discussion of whether the $4.50 uniform is the only one is academic. I believe it is only reasonable to assume that a teacher would accept a suitable substitute, provided it met specifications as to color, appropriateness, shape and condition of repair."

Remarks of the youths addressing the earlier board meeting indicated that "most" of the boys at Carmel High did not like the idea of purchasing their own suits because of high cost ($4.50) and lack of availability when one Carmel store temporarily ran out. Also, the student spokesmen said, theft of suits was causing some families hardship when they were asked to re-purchase them.

La Playa Employee Leaves Estate To W. R. Hearst's Son

Gratitude to a former employer led a Philippine-born wine steward to name George Hearst, son of the late William Randolph Hearst, beneficiary of his $1,500 insurance policy, it was disclosed in Carmel this week.

Milton Sison Costalis, 58, who died unexpectedly November 9 at La Playa Hotel where he was employed as wine steward and room service attendant, had been formerly a member of the household staff of the Hearst family both in Los Angeles and for a time at San Simeon.

Fellow hotel employees of Mr. Costalis, who had no known relatives, discovered the policy and Mr. Costalis's connection with the Hearsts in going over his personal papers at his apartment in La Playa annex, a spokesman from the hotel said.

"At first we thought Costalis had some kind of joke in mind in naming his beneficiary," the spokesman said.

Though Costalis is known to have worked for the Hearsts only on the West Coast, an acquaintance said he may have first worked for the family some 15 or 20 years ago when they were traveling in the Far East and the Philippines.

Mr. Costalis was born February 24, 1903, in Barrio Sobol Santabian Pangasinan, Philippine Islands, and had worked for many years in San Francisco and elsewhere on the coast. Although he had worked for La Playa for only about eight months prior to his death, he had been employed by the Carmel hostelry at several previous times over the past years.

He was a member of the Hotel, Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, Local 483. Cause of death was believed to be a circulatory failure. He had been suffering from a heart ailment.

Rosary for Mr. Costalis was recited last Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Paul Mortuary in Pacific Grove. Pall bearers were fellow members of the Bartenders Local, Robert Nightingale, James Clare, Joe Tick, Fred Stager, Harry Chinn and Gene Torio.

(Continued from Page One) willing, arts commissioners will be happy to pay for prints of these movies, either in color or black and white, and a telephone call to City Hall, MA 4-2781, will be appreciated.

Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur has been named a member of the advisory board of California Tomorrow, a non-profit organization to stimulate public awareness of California's growth problem. Mr. Owings is senior partner in the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, which drew up the Coast Master Plan for Monterey County.

The City of Carmel has received $4,397 as its share of annual fees and new license fees from holders of alcoholic beverage licenses for the six-month period ending August 31.

This money is returned to the city by the Alcoholic Beverage Control department from the following sources: annual license renewals, beer and wine package store, $12; general on-sale tavern, $580; beer and wine tavern, $84; new licenses, beer and wine package store, $37; general on-sale tavern, $6,580; beer and wine tavern, $234.

Letters from 20 persons favoring the Owings Coast Plan to preserve the scenic values of Highway One below Carmel were received by the county planning commission at the public hearing on the matter last week. Letters from six persons opposed the plan. Three other letters were uncommitted in attitude.

Among those who spoke in favor of the Owings Coast Plan were Carmel City Councilman Francis Whitaker, who is also chairman of the Point Lobos League, Will Shaw, secretary of the Carmel Highlands advisory committee to the county planning commission, State Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel), Mrs. Nathaniel Owings and Nicholas Roosevelt.

Attorneys representing James Doud, John Doud and Francis Molera objected to density restriction limitations in the Owings plan.

Nathaniel Owings of the firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill which drew up the Coast Plan for Monterey County, told the county planning commission last week that since the gift of 1800 acres for a public park to the state by Mrs. Lathrop Brown, expansion of Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park in Sycamore Canyon and on the Molera Ranch has been deleted from the plan.

Mr. Owings recommended, however, that county authorities do everything possible to acquire a scenic easement on these lands, thus closing them to subdivision.

Laundress Returns To High School Job Until Suspended Friday

A Pacific Grove woman employed as a laundress at Carmel High School returned to work Friday after being arraigned in Monterey Municipal Court on Wednesday on a charge of performing an abortion on a San Francisco girl.

High School Principal Warren Edwards immediately notified Assistant Superintendent of Schools Wayne Greenfield who is in charge of unclassified personnel administration matters for the Carmel Unified School District. Mr. Greenfield went to the high school and talked to the laundress, Mrs. Cora Daniels. She told him her attorney, John Redhead, had said she should report to her job, and claimed she was innocent of the charge.

Mr. Greenfield explained the district's situation in the matter and drove Mrs. Daniels to her attorney's office and gave her a copy of the school board's rules and regulations in regard to suspension of employees.

Mrs. Daniels again returned to work Friday afternoon, allegedly on the advice of her attorney who, she said, told her to continue working until she received a written statement of suspension from

P-TA Hears Plans For New Math And Remedial Reading

What's New In Our Schools was the theme of last night's meeting of the Carmel Elementary Parent-Teacher Association, headed this year by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tourangeau.

Speakers yesterday evening before the gathering in Sunset School included Mrs. Katherine Holmgren, who talked on remedial reading; Tom Hamill and Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, who summarized the new math program being introduced in Carmel schools; Dr. Walter Klas, speaking on plans for the new junior high school which he will head next fall, and River School Principal Richard O'Connell, discussing the new library at River.

Serving with the Tourangeaus for the coming academic year will be Mr. and Mrs. Speirs Ruskell, vice presidents for Sunset School; Mr. and Mrs. Clem Ale, vice presidents for River School; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crampton, vice presidents for Woods School; Mrs. Ray Baumann, corresponding secretary; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cotchett, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Pearson, recording secretary; Byron Blout, auditor; Mrs. Donald Hays, historian, and Mrs. Frank Demarest, parliamentarian.

Chairmen of the organization are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, program; Mr. and Mrs. Crampton, finance and budget; Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham, hospitality; Mrs. Howard Benedict, legislation; Mrs. Jack D. Smithson, well baby conference; Arthur Hull and Miss Sally McPhail, teacher representatives; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Feder, Newsette editors; Mrs. Warren Edwards, civil defense; Mrs. George Walker, safety; Mrs. Richard Masten and Mrs. Joseph Marasco, membership; Mrs. Everett T. Banfield Jr., publicity, and Mrs. John Rennels, founder's day chairman.

the school district's administrative office.

Mr. Greenfield presented her with the written statement notifying her that she was suspended from employment by the district. Mrs. Daniels went home and has not returned to work at Carmel High School since.

Mrs. Daniels is free on $1,575 bail and will appear for preliminary hearing in Monterey Municipal Court on November 30.

Community Theatre Elects Governors And Plans Campaign

(Continued from Page One) report stated that paid-up memberships in the Community Theatre total 200 persons and the amount of $2,501 remains in the treasury. This sum excludes $125 already received for memberships for the coming year.

Frederick Rider, director of Circle Theatre plays produced under sponsorship of the Community Theatre, announced that Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial by Jury will be the next presentation of the group. The operetta will open December 15.

Marcia Hovick reported that enrollment in four children's theatre classes was filled this fall in two days and increased enrollment in each group is expected in January. She announced present students and students on a waiting list will receive first consideration. New students should get in touch with her immediately, she emphasized.

Last year the children's group gave ten performances of Pandora's Box in Peninsula elementary schools. This year there are 60 students in four groups. The second grade level students are working with fairy tale dramatizations. A second group comprised of fourth grade students is working with Hansel and Gretel improvisations. The fifth and sixth grade group are devoting their time to the Pied Piper and the seventh to tenth grade group is reading Iphigenia in Tauris. Stage techniques, modern dancing and voice work are part of each group's curriculum, she added.

Following the meeting members heard a preview presentation of Trial by Jury.

Elected to the board of governors Tuesday evening were the following persons: Lloyd Baskerville, Walter Blasco, Howard Brunn, Mrs. Mildred Cushing, Winston Elstob, Dr. William Fitzhugh, Francis Heisler, Leonard Heller, Mrs. Marcia Hovick, Mrs. Sam Karas, Barney Laolo, Linden Leavitt, Miss Hazel McLellan, Mrs. Bruce Meyer, Mrs. George Packard, Mrs. Margaret Phillips, Fred Rider, Mrs. Ruth Thornburg, Mrs. Zelma Weinfield, Fritz Wurmann and Nick Zankes.

Art On The Peninsula

Twenty-two oil paintings by Henrietta Shore are being shown at the Hidden Village Art Galleries, 220 Olivier Street, Monterey, until December 13. Hours are noon until 5:00 o'clock and 7:00 o'clock until midnight, daily.

Miss Shore has lived in Carmel for 30 years and is one of the artists who added lustre to the local art world when she settled here, already the possessor of international renown as a painter.

PLAN CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The Arena Blanca Poets' program November 15 consisted of original poetry readings by Elsie Oberfohren and Olive Beidleman and a talk on D. H. Lawrence by Lois Wilson. The local chapter of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets met at Alma Anderson's home, with Mary Fitch Greenwood and Alice Erbit as co-hostesses. Welcomed into the group was a new member, Jan Stilwell.

Blanche Moke, president, and her husband, John, have invited Arena Blanca members to a Sunday buffet supper at their Carmel Valley home December 17. Each member is asked to bring an original Christmas poem. A president's prize will be given the best poem, to be selected by popular vote.

Edward Weston in his book, Henrietta Shore, published in 1933, remarks "Henrietta Shore is an artist by destiny, when she paints a flower, she is that flower, when she paints a rock, she is that rock. She realizes a technical perfection rarely seen in contemporary art."

Jean Charlot devotes an entire chapter to Henrietta Shore in his book Art from the Mayans to Disney. Of her he writes "Henrietta Shore chose to become an impeccable craftsman" and adds that her belief is "that nature, ordered and meaningful to the utmost details, deserves to be transmuted into paint with equal care."

Miss Shore was born in Toronto, Canada. She moved to New York; became an American citizen and studied with Robert Henri, William Chase and Kenneth Miller. She was one of the founders of the New York Society of Women Painters and Sculptors and of the Los Angeles Modern Art Society. She has had one-man shows in New York, the M. H. DeYoung Museum in San Francisco, the Los Angeles Museum of Art and the Worcester Art Museum in Massachusetts. Her paintings have been

REALTORS ELECT OFFICERS

At a recent luncheon meeting held at the Pine Inn, the Carmel Board of Realtors approved a slate of new officers for 1962. They are: Malcolm Foster, president; Danny Morgan, vice-president; Midge Pittman, secretary, and Bion Burchell, treasurer. Robert Ross, retiring president of the board, and Bion Burchell, were named new directors.

On a separate ballot Claire Cross was elected salesman-director. An installation dinner will be held at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club December 8.

Durell Decker Writes Home About Flight To Europe And Impressions Of Iceland, Later Luxembourg

Two months ago Durell Decker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, left San Francisco by air for Europe. Her letters to her parents give an American college girl's impressions of the countries she visits abroad. Not only is Durell exploring Europe but she is helping finance her venture by working for an American family in Belgium as a "Mother's assistant." She graduated from Carmel High School in 1959; spent a year at Willamette University in Oregon; last year was an honor graduate of Hartnell College in Salinas.

Durell's first letter tells about her trip to New York. She remarks that a brief stop in Kansas City revealed that this city "has an interesting skyline." Next came Washington, D.C.

"We landed alongside the Potomac," she writes, "I could see the White House, the beautiful Jefferson Memorial and the Washington Monument."

She also saw the Great Salt Lake and "the endless farms of the Middle West" on her flight and crossing the Rockies above a storm was "rough."

The size of New York Durell found "Inconceivable! One cannot see an end to it even in the air." After landing at La Guardia Field, Durell went to a hotel to sleep as her flight East had been so interesting she had been awake for 36 hours. Following 12 hours' sleep she boarded a plane for an Atlantic flight that included a "crispy cold" stop in Canada.

On the plane she met French, Belgian and German students, all about her age and on the way home to go back to school, also American students going to study abroad. She was supposed to fly to Luxembourg but an opportunity to see Iceland occurred.

In Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, Durell observed, "Almost all the houses in this city of 70,000 persons are brand new apartment buildings. All the houses, except one built around 1900 and kept for historical purposes, are of concrete reinforced with steel. All have steep roofs and lace curtains hanging in every window."

"There is so much building going on in Reykjavik it is unbelievable. There is not one block that doesn't have a building under construction, except downtown. People are living in the new apartment houses even before the outside are finished. The city appears very prosperous. Everything is neat and clean."

"Fishing is the main industry—lots of cod. The land is all volcanic rock, very desolate looking, but it furnishes enough grass for dairy cows and, therefore, dairy products. There are quite a few ponies in the countryside. They are sturdy looking with very short legs."

"We spent the night on the NATO base at Keflavik, a forty minute bus ride from Reykjavik."

She glimpsed England and Scotland from the air after her plane left Iceland and approached Europe.

Durell's next letter from Brussels starts, "You may wonder what I am doing here."

It turns out that two students

she met on the Atlantic flight invited her to visit, one of them in Paris, the other in Luxembourg and Belgium. She accepted the latter invitation.

Her hostess, Elian, had been in the United States for three months. Durell stayed with her family in Luxembourg City where Elian's father teaches English. Then she rode to Brussels with the family who drove Elian back to school.

"Luxembourg is a fairland," she writes. "The city of Luxembourg is surrounded on three sides by a deep chasm in which runs a small stream, and on the fourth side by steep cliffs."

"On the city side of the little valley a fortress or fortification wall has been built. There are passageways and windows to shoot from all along it. There are only two bridges into the city. One of them is the largest span of stone-work in the world."

All of the Luxembourg buildings, even the new ones, are of stone, Durell observes, and the style of architecture medieval. The Petrusse Valley, she described

"One feels," she adds, "as though some gallant knight in shining armor will suddenly dash by on a white charger."

The countryside in Luxembourg Durell found luxuriantly green, the trees in the forests small and very, very close together. The black and white cows Durell saw on dairy farms in Luxembourg "were quite furry, so are the goats."

"The larger farms," she says, "are built in a square formation with a patio in the center. On one side of this there is a stable, on another side grain storage with the house on the third side."

"Everyone so far has just loved Americans," she concludes.

Editor's note: Durell's next letter tells of her impression of Belgium and about finding a job with an American family in Waterloo.

This part of her travels will be reported in this paper at a later date.

Swiss Cellist Plays Free Concert At MPC Friday, December 1

Rama Jucker, internationally-known Swiss cellist, will appear in concert at Monterey Peninsula College December 1.

Presented as the second performer in the 1961 MPC Artist Concert Series, the musician will commence his program at 8:30 o'clock in the college's library lecture hall.

Born in 1935 in Herisau, Switzerland, Jucker was educated at the Winterthur Gymnasium, studied music with his cellist father at the Winterthur Conservatory and later with Andre Navarra in Paris and Siena, and won first prize in the Second International Pablo Casals Competition in Mexico in 1959.

Since autumn, 1959, he has concertized extensively throughout Europe, Mexico and the United States, both as a soloist with orchestra and in recital.

Critics have been lavish in their praise of Jucker's "rich, pure tone," calling him "an artist to remember—both technically and musically." They have also praised his instrument, a rare French cello called a Mirmont, built around 1880.

The public is invited by the MPC Music Department, sponsor of the recital, to attend without charge.

Orchestra San Pietro Of Naples One Large Complex Instrument

By EBEN WHITTLESEY

A small orchestra is always very effective in the comparative intimacy of Sunset Auditorium. Last Friday the Carmel Music Society presented the Orchestra San Pietro of Naples under the direction of Renato Ruotolo in a most satisfying performance. Nothing can demonstrate more effectively than such a group of artists as this, the completely satisfying level of performance attainable by a group of really able string players trained in the Italian tradition. It would be hard to imagine musicians more completely coordinated, with as consistent and uniform quality of performance. They produced a volume of balanced sound that would have done credit to an orchestra three times their size.

The orchestra consisted of 15 strings, two oboes and two French horns. They began their concert with a Sinfonia by D. Cimarosa. The first movement was sprightly and replete with bits of humor, relished but not overstressed by the players. From the opening chords one was struck with the smooth texture of sound produced, and the consummate musicianship of the performance. Here were artists dedicated to their music. There was something different on the one hand from the uneasy brilliance of inspired amateurs, and on the other from the slightly bored and mechanical perfection of many large orchestras. These players did not depend on the brilliance of an inspired conductor to galvanize them into inspired virtuosity. Young though they appeared, they were musicians to the core welding themselves together into a brilliant, complex instrument. Sparkling brilliance of ensemble playing dominated the second movement of the Cimarosa.

Next we heard the Concertino in G Major, No. 2, by Pergolesi. The orchestra brought to the broad and gracious contours of this music a strong sense of form and structure. The music is simple and sincere, and was played without undue emotion but with warmth and grace.

As the orchestra moved into the gracious opening movement of Mozart's concerto for violin K 216 there was revealed to us the very considerable talent of Franco Gulli, the soloist. He produced a powerful and warm tone. His reading was romantic rather than dramatic, and lent that persuasive grace to Mozart's score that brings this composer's music most completely alive. The slow movement was particularly lyric. One was reminded that Mozart was extensively exposed to Italian influences in early years. Signor Gulli is a soloist of distinction whom one would like to hear more of.

After the intermission G. Gabrielli's Sonata 19 for 12 strings demonstrated the power and scope of this small group of completely integrated musicians. There were swelling, resonant passages in the first movement in which the orchestra seemed like one large, complex instrument.

The closing work was Haydn's Symphony No. 44 in E Minor. The typically strong, broad Haydn opening was followed by a veritable tempest of musical activity. Meaning was never sacrificed to speed, however. In the eloquent introduction to the second movement one felt strongly the deep conviction with which these young people play. While their timing always seemed good, the emphasis was placed on the open tone rather than on brilliance of attack.

A very responsive audience was rewarded by two encores: one a passacaglia by Respighi, the other a minuet by Bocherini. It was a most satisfying evening all around.

DR. BRANDT WAC SPEAKER

The Western Urge To Suicide will be the subject of an address by Dr. Karl Brandt, associate director of Stanford University's Food Research Institute for the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Carmel High School Auditorium. The meeting is open only to members of the council. However, anyone wishing to join the group will have an opportunity to do so at that time.

Dr. Brandt, who has spoken no less than 14 times for the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, was a leading economist in pre-Hitler Germany. His academic career as a Professor at the College of Agriculture in Berlin was interrupted when in 1933 Hitler abolished his university chair and the institute. He just returned from a study tour of Western Europe where he talked to top people of each country he visited.

Robert Mueller Plays With County Symphony In December Concert

(Continued from Page One) tras and chamber ensembles. His Town Hall and Carnegie Hall recitals were received with enthusiastic critical acclaim. In 1953 he won the San Francisco Music Critic Award, and in 1955 the San Francisco Symphony Foundation Award.

Robert Mueller, who is currently engaged in his fifth United States tour, has also performed in Europe with great success, playing in such music centers as London, Paris, Vienna, Rome, Milan, Helsinki and Copenhagen. Plans for the near future include appearances in Asia, the Near and Far East, and South America.

Although his performance with the Monterey County Symphony will mark his public debut here, Mr. Mueller is well known to local music patrons for his performances in a series of private recitals.

Tickets for the December 5 concert are currently on sale at the Browse Around Music Shop. Symphony officials have also announced that tickets on a season basis are still available and will be prorated for the four remaining concerts in the 1961-62 series. It Makes Perfect Pictures Automatically—Indoors and Out!

New Micro-Eye Works Anywhere No Flashbulbs Instant Pictures too!

A new kind of electric eye is the nerve center of this new Land Camera. It is small as a matchhead, yet almost as sensitive as a human eye. It can even "see" indoors at night.

Because of its radical design this new camera works automatically over the widest range of any electric eye camera—from brightest beaches to shadowy interiors.

Indoors at night your room lights are all that is necessary to make the picture, using the ultra-sensitive 3000 speed Polaroid Land film. The Polaroid wink-light fills in the shadows.

Every picture you make with this camera is ready to be enjoyed on the spot, just moments after you click the shutter. Isn't this the way you want to take pictures? Come in for a free demonstration.

EUCALYPTUS

A far, against the sunset sky, I seem
To wear the mystic semblance of a dream,
In fine-drawn silhouette of shadowy grace,
My spreading boughs I trace,
But closer come—and you will see at length
My tall and rugged strength,
Guarding the young shoots clustering at my foot,
Whose life is from my root,
Whose silvery leaves soft sheen
Blend with my darker green.

And when your heart is tired, and sad to see
What man-made things can be,
Come, weary one, and in my shelter lie!
My singing leaves shall croon a lullaby,
My incense of er you stealing,
Tonic, and strong, and healing,
Rest, and refreshment, and sweet peace shall bring,
And you will bless me then, remembering!

AUTUMN

Late breath of warm
Brief splash of sun
Till winter claim his due:

The willow drips her shocking gold
On autumn's faded grey;
Proud poplar falters and his glitter
Coat's a passing fad;
The birch, the beech, the quaking elm
Frail twigs exposed are mad;
Unnatural, a lawn lies green
Beside a sheltered hedge,
But season's wasted air denies
Even this terse pledge.

Late breath of warm
Brief splash of sun
Till winter claim his due.

Christmas Bureau Needs Dolls, Also Repair Volunteers

The Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau, organized several years ago in co-operation with the Family Service Agency as a means of correlating public gift-giving at Christmas time, and under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Mark Thomas, is making a special plea this year for toys, non-perishable foods, and cash contributions.

Toys in reasonably good condition are needed. These may be left at any fire station on the Peninsula, where they will be collected by the bureau with the assistance of many local realtors. The Naval Air Facility has made provision for mending bicycles and tricycles; but volunteers are needed to paint and repair smaller toys. Mrs. Lloyd Jenkins, FR 5-0362, will take the names of volunteers for this purpose.

Dolls are urgently needed for gifts; there are none left from last year. Women are needed for dolls' dressmaking, as well, and if interested are asked to telephone Mrs. Greene Erskine, FR 2-6315.

Food (canned goods and non-perishable items), which makes up the Christmas gift baskets, may also be left at the fire stations. Cash donations are also gratefully received, and may be sent to Mrs. Richard Spill, 10 Calle de los Amigos, Pacific Grove.

The deadline for these preparations is December 15, with the distribution of toys and gift baskets on December 22. Parents of the families which are approved for this benefit will come and pick out individual toys for their children, and will receive a food basket. Last year 651 Peninsula children received toys.

Former Missionary To China Is Pius X Library Lecturer

Second in a series of lectures, open to the public without charge, presented by St. Pius X Library of Monterey is on Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Fiesta Room of the Casa Munras. The speaker will be Dom Vincent Martin, O.S.B.; his topic Advent and Prophecy.

Father Martin, a former missionary to China and a former officer in the Chinese Army, is presently retreat master at St. Andrew's Priory at Valyermo. He also teaches at Immaculate Heart College, Mount St. Mary's College, and for the Sisters of Social Service. St. Pius X Library, located in the old rectory building next to San Carlos Church in Monterey, recently expanded its hours to include Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon. It is also open Thursday evening, Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 9:00 o'clock and Sunday morning 8:30 to 1:00 o'clock.

Art On The Peninsula—

The current one-man show of Miss Shore's work at the Hidden Village Art Galleries is the first time she has exhibited her work locally for a number of years.

Six paintings by Max Gunther, Swiss artist whose work was seen here this fall in the Zellerbach collection loan exhibition sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, are being shown until December 20 at the Carmel Highlands Gallery which is open every day including Sunday from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until sunset.

Max Gunther was born in Zurich, Switzerland. Orphaned at an early age, he spent his childhood and early youth in an orphanage. He decided to become an artist and at the age of 17 left the orphanage to travel and study painting and sculpture. He visited England, France and Scandinavia, financing his travels by various jobs, among these work as a dock hand and dishwasher. He continued during this time to paint prolifically and sold much of his work. For the past four years he has been living and painting in Rome.

His city paintings, with their wet pavements and rain-blurred buildings are among the most interesting contemporary paintings and are widely collected. Six of these shimmering impressions are being shown at the Highlands Gallery.

In addition to having his work included in the Zellerbach collection, Max Gunther paintings are also in collections owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Rockefeller of New York, Mr. and Mrs. John Gavin of California and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Getty of Rome.

Winners of the November art show at the Carmel Craft Studios were, Victor Cuevas, first place, Phyllis Holt, second place.

Mr. Cuevas entered an oil, Study of a Boy. He is a Mexican youth studying in Carmel. Phyllis Holt exhibited an oil, too, Study in Blue.

The next Crafts Studios show will be on December 15. The contest is open to all artists in any medium. Merchandise awards are presented.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

A challenging call to overcome evil, no matter how subtle, with the power of God will be heard Sunday at Christian Science church services.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Readings from the Bible will include this verse from Revelation (21): "He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

A correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 571): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good."

The Golden Text is from I John: "Whoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

Mayor Frank Putnam, center above, prepares to cut the ribbon for the grand opening of Carmel's newest service station last Friday afternoon. Brad Wayland, manager of the Standard Oil Chevron Station at the northeast corner of Junipero and Fourth Streets, watches the mayor, at right. Grouped about them are representatives of the Standard Oil Company, Western Operations Inc., their wives, Mrs. Wayland and Mrs. Putnam.

Pictured besides those already mentioned are: E. S. Todd, of Salinas, district sales manager for Western Operations, Inc.; J. R. Barber of San Francisco, assistant retail sales manager, and Mrs. Barber; H. R. Schuttler of San Francisco, retail sales manager, and Mrs. Schuttler; A. J. Bacocco of San Francisco, property representative; W. H. Hohnemann, Peninsula retail representative; and hidden from view, M. C. Petersen, Peninsula distributor.

The new station is the first to open here for over 20 years, and is the only service station in Carmel in the C-2 zone where such businesses are allowed. The other nine service stations in the business district are nonconforming uses which existed prior to the 1941 zoning ordinance which stated that gas stations should be located in C-2 zone.

Standard Oil Company took pains to bring the new station into accordance with landscaping, color, height and lighting requirements in the 1960 zoning ordinance. This required many sessions with the Carmel Planning Commission.

Music On The Peninsula

by Mary Lindsay-Oliver
A review by Eden Whittlesey on the Italian chamber orchestra brought here by the Music Society last week is elsewhere in this paper but I want to state also the joy it was to hear strings played with such precision and vital depth of tone-color. The group of only 15 produced a flowing fullness and modulation that many large orchestras do not arrive at, for it takes the innate musician and generations of the devotion Italians have for music to comprehend such concentration, sensitive expression and nuance. The Haydn Sinfonia and the rest was a treat rarely heard outside of Italy for which gratitude is due the Carmel Music Society.

One of our most creative artists on the Peninsula, Daniel Liorde, whose puppetry headquarters is in Cannery Row and from which place he sells forth over this continent and abroad, has just had a great success in Winnipeg, Canada, in conjunction with the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra. The Winnipeg Tribune has a whole column of praise for Liorde as a highly cultured musician and dramatic showman. It is here on the Peninsula that Liorde creates his puppet programs with classical music. They are now internationally acclaimed as unique, and this past summer he was too busy to give any local performances but hopes to next year.

Loftons In New House

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton, their older daughter Nancy Dee, a student at the University of California, and Melissa, a sixth grader at River School, will be celebrating Thanksgiving Day in a new house.

After living many years in the old Willis White house at Camino Real and Ninth, the Loftons moved last weekend, with the help of friends and the loan of station wagons, into a charming new home on Taylor Road, Hatton Fields Mesa. Mrs. Lofton is pleased about "a room for each of the girls, lots of book-shelves in the living room, and plenty of wall space for hanging Dick's paintings."

Dinner at Cindy's and John's

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams will celebrate their first Thanksgiving since their May wedding with a dinner in their Carmel Valley home. The family gathering will include Cindy's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Johnny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams, his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Williams, his sister, Kate Williams, and Cindy's sister Mardi Lloyd, up from California Polytechnic College for the holiday. A special weekend guest of the Williamses for the festivities is Miss Lyn Heringer, also a student at Cal Poly, who was one of Cindy's bridesmaids at her wedding last spring.

Reunion At Chanslors'

An old friendship will be rekindled when Islin Auster, formerly of Westport, Connecticut, now living in Los Angeles, joins Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chanslor for Thanksgiving dinner in their home on Carmel Point. This is the first meeting between Mr. Auster and Mr. Chanslor after ten years of being completely out of touch with each other. Sharing in the happiness of this reunion will be Miss Dorothy Stephenson, and Mrs. Chanslor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Lawson.

Milton Mayer Due Back

Expected back in Carmel late next month is Milton Mayer, Carmel writer who has been serving as visiting professor on the faculty of Komenius Theological Faculty in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

According to word received by Carmel friends this week from Mrs. Mayer (Jane), who has been with her husband in Prague, he will leave his post in mid-December, fill several speaking engagements in this country, including three at Monterey Peninsula College, then return to Switzerland to rejoin Mrs. Mayer in February.

During his stay in Europe as a visiting instructor, Mr. Mayer has toured Moscow and Central Asia all the way to Samarkand as a guest of the Russian Orthodox Church.

Teagues Back From Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Teague are home after an eight-week "beautiful experience" of traveling through Europe and the Middle East. Arriving first in London with their daughters, Linda and Hilary, Mr. and Mrs. Teague went on to Paris while the girls made an independent visit to Scotland. Mrs. Teague then spent a week in Switzerland, visiting the Moral Rearmament organization at Caux, then joined her husband and daughters in Venice. An exciting cruise of the Mediterranean followed, with stops in Egypt, Turkey, Syria, Cyprus and Marseilles. After this, Linda and Hilary enrolled at Aix University, Aix-en-Provence, and their parents took a trip through Spain, where Mr. Teague found wonderful material for painting.

The Teagues were particularly impressed with a new medium of entertainment which is being widely used throughout Europe and the Middle East. Called Son et Lumiere—Sound and Light—this is a combination of recorded music, narration and sound effects together with special lighting arrangements, produced at night in such settings as the Coliseum at Rome, the Egyptian pyramids, or the Cathedral of Avignon. "It was thrilling," said Mrs. Teague. "Sound and Light gives a three dimensional effect that uses your own imagination to help create it, because there are no living people or performers involved. You feel you are actually a part of the place and of its history."

Linda and Hilary plan to stay on at Aix for the rest of the semester. "Or maybe longer; we really don't know. This is their free year."

Teachers Entertain Teachers

Entertaining the 35 foreign instructors currently studying at San Francisco State College who visited the Peninsula to observe the teaching methods of the Army Language School, were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sippel, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Rainer, Mr. and Mrs. John Rylander, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Broadman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lawitzke, Mrs. Mariquita Brey, Mrs. John Nesbitt, Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, Miss Ann Caren, Miss Maurine Dyer, Miss Nellie Ryder, Miss Patricia Maxwell, Richard Pritchard, Ray Stumbo and Raymond Gere.

Ten-Little Jefferses

Mr. and Mrs. Donnan Jeffers flew to England November 9 for a short holiday, and are expected back on Tuesday. Meanwhile, at home, their children, Lindsay, Una, Donnan and Robin, are enjoying the company of six young cousins: Maeve, Diana, Morna, Robin, Stuart and Garth—the children of Donnan's brother and sister-in-law, Garth and Charlotte Jeffers. The Garth Jefferses are here from Susanville to look after the household because of the ill health of Robinson Jeffers, grandfather of the ten children, with whom the Donnan Jefferses make their home.

Garth is on the National Forest Service staff at Lassen National Forest.

Symphony Preview Tea

The Monterey County Symphony Guild will give a Preview Tea on Tuesday afternoon starting at 2:00 o'clock.

John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, will discuss Mendelssohn, the Classic and Romanticist. He will use recordings to demonstrate his points.

Millers to Santa Barbara

Mrs. Valentine Miller and her children Alison, Andrew and Janie, are driving south today in a spanking new automobile to spend the holiday weekend in Santa Barbara. The children will stay with their father, Alastair Miller, and their grandmother, Mrs. Alec Miller.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Several months ago we called attention to a new magazine we are taking. It is entitled Atlas and is filled with translated articles from the world's press, mostly on international affairs. At first it circulated great guns, but of late its attraction seems to have fallen off. Perhaps it needs to be called to your attention again because you have forgotten it. It is very worth while, and certainly fills a need from the information standpoint. Give it a try again, won't you?

Speaking of things we are taking, the daily New York Times has started at last. No doubt you saw the item in the newspapers which stated that after the first of the year it is to be printed for the west coast in Los Angeles, and that should prove a blessing time-wise.

Finally, again we want to mention the films we have for loan and also the projector. Two films which look interesting in this pack are The Queen's Plate, an account of a racing classic, and Salmon for Junior, the story of a 14-year-old boy's fishing for salmon off Newfoundland. In color, of course. Someone should be using these good things!

A book recently reprinted which had been long out of print is entitled Forty Years Among the Indians. Written by Daniel Jones, it is composed of journals, anecdotes and small stories, and vividly recounts the thrilling experiences of a white man among the western Indians of a hundred years ago.

Come the holidays, and you should be assisted in your entertaining by your library, namely us. We have a new book entitled Successful Parties and How to Give Them, written by a woman with the unusual name of Wackerbarth. These are parties for youngsters, and are planned for special occasions, or particular seasons. There are also activities and diverting games for rainy days and other times when the small ones are confined to the house.

The child with a speech problem is the subject of a book by Charles Van Riper, who is an authority in the speech correction field. The title is Your Child's Speech Problem. This is an anecdotal type of book, case histories which are interesting and revealing. The book is small. It might be a good one for parents of small children to read even if none of their children have a speech defect, because it displays so clearly the natures of children and their parents, both silent and while talking.

There are several new novels, so check the list to see what they are.

During a recent bout with a virus, this librarian read A View from the Hill by Cid Ricketts Sumner. It's almost worth having a virus to be able to read at leisure this warmly wise book which was published in 1957 and has been building an enthusiastic following ever since. If you missed it too, by all means catch up on it without delay. Be good to yourself; read A View from the Hill.

Another Approach To Religion

Where is there a religion that honestly encourages the fullest possible use of reason?

There is beauty and truth in many of the world's religious faiths. Is there a church anywhere that does not claim to have all the answers?

I cannot accept religious beliefs just on faith. Is there a church for me?

Can persons from any religious background — Christian, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem, etc. find one church where all are welcomed without "conversion" or "renunciation?"

If you find something of your own thought, experience, and searching in these questions, you are invited to share your ideas with us—the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula. We meet at 11:00 a.m. every Sunday at the Monterey Peninsula USO Bldg., Monterey, near El Estero Park. Literature about Unitarianism may be procured by writing P. O. Box 251, Pacific Grove, Calif.

Carmel Thanksgivings

The first rain has come, amid rejoicing; the air is clear and crisp; sons and daughters are arriving home from distant schools; the delicious smell of roasting turkeys and spicy pumpkin pies is everywhere. Thanksgiving is here, and Carmel families are celebrating.

Co-operative Thanksgiving

The Carmel Highlands home of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams will be the scene of a co-operative Thanksgiving dinner Thursday night. Seated at the long candlelit table in the Williamses' living room, and enjoying two turkeys and a baked ham, with all the trimmings, will be, besides Dr. and Mrs. Williams, and Honey and Molly Williams, Mrs. Allen Williams, Mrs. George Szarvasy, Mrs. John Nesbitt with Penny and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner and Tasha, Joan and Michael New, Laidlaw Williams, Dennis Peavey and David Goldschmitt.

A Thanksgiving Wedding

A combined wedding celebration and Thanksgiving dinner will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Criley in their Carmel Meadows home. Miss Joan Lazio and Mr. Robert Eads, both of Los Angeles and old friends of the Crileys, are to be married on Thanksgiving afternoon in the Highlands Inn Chapel. Afterwards they will go to the Crileys' for champagne toasts, turkey, the good wishes of their hosts and of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kovner, Los Angeles friends who are spending the weekend with the Crileys. Also sharing the celebration will be Teddy, Donny and Megan Criley.

Seven Fehring's Together

The Ted Fehring family is to reunite in an exclusively family gathering. "For the first time," says Mrs. Fehring, "there will be just the seven of us, and no one else." Janet landed from Europe Monday night, after six months studying at Stanford in Italy at Florence, and three months traveling. Jean, a student at Chico State College, arrives home today; and Joy came up last Friday from California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo.

At home to greet each of their older sisters as they arrive are Julie and Joanne who will complete the family party on Thanksgiving Day.

Review At Town House

Henry Rider Haggard, His Life and Works, a new biography by Morton N. Cohen, will be reviewed on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at The Carmel Foundation Town House by Miss Mabel Stark, a member of the book review section of the American Association of University Women.

The book on the adventure-filled life of the author of King Solomon's Mines, She, Allen Quaterman, and Dawn, will be the first in a series of book reviews made possible by the community service committee of A.A.U.W. and the members of the book review sections, as their special contribution to the programs at the Town House.

Town House will be open on Thanksgiving Day.

Art Association Autumn Party

Decorations depicted the abundance of autumn at the Carmel Art Association cocktail-buffet party Saturday evening. Members and their guests, several hundred in all, gathered in the main gallery for the party and wandered through the association's smaller galleries to admire the current exhibits of members' work during the evening.

Refreshment tables were covered with red or grey cloths. An arrangement of yellow and deep red chrysanthemums mingled with autumn-tinted leaves, greenery and Hawaiian ti was the centerpiece on the punch table. A straw cornucopia surmounted and surrounded with red lobster shells poured forth a plenitude of crab meat and prawns onto a platter flanked with smaller dishes of pate de foie gras on another table. Silver salvers of turkey and ham provided further provender on a third. A large copper chafing dish across the room on a fourth table was filled with hot hors d'oeuvres and two magnificent Mexican straw roosters decorated a fifth hot hors d'oeuvres table. Among those who dispensed refreshments at two other tables were Brigadier General Frank Dorn, Valerio Giusi, Fred Klepich and Leslie Emery.

General Dorn was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. He was assisted by Mrs. Robert Aurner, Mrs. Douglas MacGregor, Leslie Emery and Charles Thomas, president of the Carmel Art Association.

The party brought together new members and those who had belonged to the association since its formation 30 years ago. One of the persons present Saturday was Mrs. Nellie Montague, first art association curator. Surveying the happy throng of members and the spacious galleries she remarked, "Remember how we started with just the Beardsley Room heated with a cast iron stove."

Morses Return From East

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse returned to Pebble Beach from a brief trip to New York in time to travel to San Francisco for the Robert Watt Millers' fortieth wedding anniversary ball. While on the east coast the Morses were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Thomas on Long Island.

Dinner at Priscilla Nesbitt's

Two visiting teachers from South America, Miss Izolda Correa Roth of Brazil, and Mrs. Zoila Miranda v. de Vaquez of Bolivia, were entertained at dinner Saturday night in the home of Mrs. John Nesbitt, teacher at River School. Instructors of English in their own countries, Miss Roth and Mrs. de Vaquez are two of 400 foreign teachers, sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who are currently studying and observing educational methods in the United States.

Invited to meet Miss Roth and Mrs. de Vaquez at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Danysh, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamill and L. Bowman Sturtevant. Before the other guests arrived, the South American ladies joined Mrs. Nesbitt in the kitchen to admire the refrigerator, the mixer, and other labor-saving delights. They expressed surprise that it is so easy for the American housewife to give a dinner with no servants. "But you do it all so quickly!" they exclaimed, "And how beautiful are your supermarkets!"

Karen Turns Five

Young neighbors of Karen Limov, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Limov of Carmel Hills, converged on the Limov home Monday afternoon to help celebrate Karen's fifth birthday.

Among the guests were Debra Berry, Natalie Wood, John Palmer, Andrea and Denise Torras, the honoree's sister Joan, and her brother, Joey. Karen's older sister Barbara, senior at Carmel High School, dispensed ice cream and birthday cake. Karen is a kindergartner at River School.

Stewarts Commemorate Hike

Pine Cone readers may have heard of the famous Tassajara hike recently undertaken by some ambitious local residents. To commemorate this expedition, a dinner was given Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. William K. Stewart of Carmel Highlands for the other members of the intrepid group: Dr. and Mrs. Scott Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. William Fassett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Gara and Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw. After dinner everyone played charades.

Festival in Sweden

Birgit and Dagmar, of the Swedish Coffee and Tea Room, have temporarily closed their doors. This is the time of year when they make their annual trip home to Sweden for the Festival of Santa Lucia, a national celebration on December 13. For this occasion special cookies and cakes are baked; there are gay processions in every town and village always led by the Santa Lucia of that particular place — a girl chosen by vote of the townspeople, wearing the traditional long white dress, red ribbon around her waist, and crown of candles. Everyone sings one particular song, as popular in Sweden as is "Jingle Bells" in this country, a Swedish version of the Italian song "Santa Lucia."

Birgit and Dagmar will reopen their tea room, newly redecorated, in January.

Tri Delt Luncheon

Members of the recently formed Monterey Bay Area alumni chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority will meet for luncheon on December 2 at the Corral de Tierra Country Club.

Formal acceptance of the chapter's new charter will take place at this time. Mrs. Charles E. French of San Francisco will present the charter. Mrs. Lawrence Bixby of San Jose also will come to assist in the ceremony.

Officers of the Monterey Bay area chapter are Mrs. Karl Frank, president; Miss Carol Ann Jenkins, vice president; Mrs. C. Yeomans, treasurer; Mrs. Neal Casebolt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James W. Wilson, historian and Mrs. T. W. Inlay, recommendations chairman.

Any Tri Delt in this area who is interested in joining the group may telephone MA 4-1143 for further information or get in touch with any of the officers.

Swims in Japan

Thanksgiving in Japan, or its equivalent, will be enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Swim, their daughter Marilyn, and their two sons Gay and Roger. The Swims took off by jet last Saturday, and expect to return in about ten days.

Friends Dine Together

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davey, their daughter Robin, and their sons Marc and Peter will join forces with Skye and with Beth Ingels for Thanksgiving dinner.

Party at the Armanascos'

About 20 of their friends gathered at the Hatton Fields home of Mr. and Mrs. August Armanasco for a buffet supper on Sunday. Sitting at two long candlelit tables, the guests enjoyed samples of Mrs. Armanasco's famous cuisine, including a special casserole dish described by one of those present as containing "layered cheese and ham with a kind of Yorkshire pudding topping—wonderful!"

Mrs. Sands Goes East

Mrs. Don Sands, whose husband is proprietor of The House That Jack Built, flew East on Monday with her mother, Mrs. A. A. Lyle, to be gone about a week visiting her sisters in Buffalo and New York. Mrs. Lyle was in Carmel several months, staying with the Sands and their daughter Susie.

Lucille Ray Flies to Waikiki

Taking off from San Francisco Thanksgiving morning at 9:00 o'clock, and arriving in the Islands three hours later, Carmel's administrative clerk, Mrs. Lucille Ray, will start a long anticipated six-week vacation. Among those who have been entertaining Mrs. Ray with a spate of bon voyage parties are Mrs. Julian von Meier,

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Abernethy, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schilthuis, City Building Inspector and Mrs. Floyd Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elston and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schroeder.

Tonight Mrs. Ray is giving a farewell open house and will dispense "a casual aloha drink" to her many well-wishers. In her absence, Mrs. Ray's Carmel Point home will be occupied by friends.

Hundreds Watch Sky Lit By Blazing Home On Saturday Night

Damage is expected to exceed $15,000 from the explosion and fire which destroyed one residence and threatened an entire area near downtown Carmel Saturday evening at 11:00 o'clock. Twenty men and four pieces of fire equipment responded to the alarm.

The home on Santa Fe Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues had recently been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Olson of Delano, California.

It was occupied by Mrs. Paula Bradshaw, a music teacher of Sacramento, and her two children, who had moved in two weeks before. The Bradshaws lost all their furnishings and belongings, which were uninsured, in the fire.

Flames leaped from 75 to 100 feet into the air at the height of the fire, which followed an explosion thought to have originated from a gas-burning floor furnace, according to Carmel Fire Department reports.

Some 1000 spectators lined the streets to see the conflagration, including large groups of motel guests clad in night dress.

Managers of the nearby motels, including the Jade Tree Inn and

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone

Surf Tides Motel, mounted their roofs with hoses to douse flying embers, according to the fire department.

The department report said an investigation disclosed the fire must have been burning for some four hours in the house prior to the explosion. The family, however, was not at home.

Damage extended to two trees on the property which were destroyed, a cottage back of the main house, which lost a roof and wall, and a cottage directly north of the main house, shingles of which caught on fire but the flames were extinguished by the fire department.

Loss for the Bradshaws included a new piano, also uninsured, the department report said.

Fireman Roy Walls was among those injured during the blaze. He has been released from Monterey Hospital where he spent three days confined with chest injuries. Other fire fighters sustained minor injuries including smoke inhalation and slashed fingers.

NORA RITSCHEL HURT

A one-car accident Tuesday evening at 8:40 o'clock in the Carmel Highlands area caused minor injuries to Mrs. Nora H. Ritschel of Carmel when her car rebounded from a stone wall and rolled into a hedge.

According to California Highway Patrol, Mrs. Ritschel was northbound on a private road 180 feet south of Highway One in the Highlands when she lost control of her auto on a sharp curve. The car crashed into a stone wall, then rolled backward down the roadway, stopping against a hedge.

Mrs. Ritschel received minor injuries and was treated by a private physician.

Youth Center Orders Trailers For Sales At Sports Events

The Crosby Tournament begins on January 18 and continues through January 22. Del Monte Properties has arranged that Carmel Youth Center members, in addition to selling refreshments at the Crosby Tournament, may also take the trailers to all other sports events on Del Monte Properties' land, also have one of the trailers at Pebble Beach during the summer months.

The trailers will be operated by members of the youth center and proceeds will be used to support the teenage recreation center.

When not in use the trailers will be parked under the new addition at the youth center and will be towed by cars to the various sports events.

Msgr. De Moor

A once familiar figure—portly, round-faced, wearing a beret and with pockets sagging with peanuts for the squirrels, crusts for the birds and cookies in case he should meet a hungry dog—will no longer be seen in Carmel or working in the garden of the home he had built up the valley.

Monsignor Vincent de Paul de Moor, affectionately known to his many friends as "Marcel", died from a heart attack early Saturday morning on board the SS America bound for New York. He was on his way back to California from Europe. His body will be returned to his native Belgium for burial in Brussels, home of his sister and only remaining close relative, Mademoiselle Germaine de Moor.

A Mass of Requiem for the repose of his soul will be celebrated at the Carmelite Monastery, south of Carmel on Highway 1, at 10:00 o'clock on Monday morning. Father Louis Arvin of the Paris Foreign Missions will be the celebrant and all friends are invited to attend.

Born in 1888 and ordained a priest of the Catholic Church at the age of 24, Monsignor de Moor was a lecturer, world traveller, the author of several books and a hero of World War I. Using the nom de guerre of "le Lieutenant Marcel", he organized an underground intelligence service during the German occupation of his country and also, with a small group of friends, the clandestine printing and circulation of La Libre Belgique.

For these and many other services both to his church and to the Allied cause in both world wars, he was awarded a chestful of decorations. Pope Pius XI made him Knight Commander of the Holy Sepulchre and he was also Commander of the French Legion d'Honneur and of the Belgian Ordre de Leopold. The Catholic Missions of Africa were among the greatest interests of his life. He held a chair of Missiology at the Institut Catholique of Paris and spent his summers lecturing in Europe and his winters in Carmel.

Innumerable friends on both sides of the Atlantic and in all walks of life will miss him. He will be remembered for his gaiety and kindness; for his willingness to listen and his eagerness to help; for the unflinching fund of understanding and compassion which he held available to any fellow creature's need. In a word, Monsignor "Marcel" will be remembered for the goodness of his heart.

Folksingers Concert With Marcia Berman At Sunset December 9

The KPFA Listeners' Association is planning a folk music jamboree in Carmel on December 9. Children's concerts will be given at 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon and an evening concert for adults at 8:00 o'clock, all in Sunset School auditorium. Food will be sold during intermission.

Marcia Berman is coming from Los Angeles to sing American folk songs and play her guitar. Folk song societies from San Diego, Berkeley, Los Angeles and Sacramento are sending delegations to the event. Local folk singers have volunteered to play and sing, too.

Joe Broadman is director of the folk music jamboree. Tickets may be obtained at Browse Around music store and Central Box Office.

Danish Film At MPC December 1 In Free Theater Arts Series

Day of Wrath, a Danish film notable for its extraordinary use of the camera, will be shown at Monterey Peninsula College on December 1.

Third in the current MPC Theater Arts Group, the film has been scheduled for 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the armory on campus. The public is invited by the Evening Division, sponsor of the series, to attend without charge.

Written and directed in 1943 by Carl Theodor Dreyer as an adaptation of a classic play, Day of Wrath is the story of a 17th-century witch hunt in a Danish town. Renaissance reality is re-created through decor, close-ups and stark lighting, and Dreyer fills his screen with pictorial image and Rembrandtesque grouping.

Dialogue is Danish, with English subtitles.

FBI Head Praises Carmel Police For Moyer Case Capture

and was indeed an outstanding performance of duty. We in the FBI deeply appreciate the splendid assistance of your associates and you in this matter.

Sincerely yours,
J. Edgar Hoover

Chief Klaumann reports that this week all members of the police department are attending a practical pistol course conducted at Fort Ord. This marksmanship instruction is given twice yearly by the FBI.

Half of the members of the police department since Monday have been taking the course in the morning; the other half in the afternoon. Mr. Klaumann remarks that although he hopes his men will not have to demonstrate their shooting proficiency while enforcing the law, he thinks Carmelites should have the protection of police officers able to use firearms.

CARMEL CHEST RETURNS

The Community Chest has announced that two banks in Carmel have achieved 100% employee participation in this year's campaign. August Johnson of Bank of America and Arne Halle of Crocker-Anglo National Bank received a letter from the Chest excapably if necessary. The instruction ends today.

pressing appreciation for the employees being in the vanguard of this year's drive. In addition the banks as heretofore have made a substantial corporate contribution.

Business Chairman Kurt Koebig said that the business area stands at 80% of quota and urged those who desire to contribute to do so now in order that the campaign may be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion.
